

Finding the Right Fit: College Planning for Gifted Kids

May 5, 2009

7pm, CHS Lecture Hall

$5 for non-members, FREE for CGA Members

You might think that college planning for gifted kids is easier in that they are more likely to get accepted, provided that they live up to their academic potential. In reality, being gifted can actually make the college decision harder. Plus, the social and emotional needs of gifted students can require some additional thought to get the right fit.

Gain insights from a parent of two gifted high school students who has been facing these issues.

The presentation will include tips for both middle school and high school students about preparing for college and finding the right fit.

Barbara Geller, The College Counselor for Gifted Kids, at <http://collegecounselor.wordpress.com/>

Be in the Know
About What's New at CGA
Elections, Facebook, and more

Other important dates:

AP testing (proctors needed) May 4-15

CISD Bond Election May 9

Currently registering:

MOSAIC summer classes (register@coppellgifted.org)